COMMUNICATIONS

From MARTIN L. DAVEY

I read with interest the article in your issue of July 17th written by my opponent, the Hon. E. R. Bathrick. The charge made by him regarding my recommendation for the Post Office at Kent was fully answered in a letter which I wrote to the editor of the Cleveland Leader. It strikes me that Mr. Bathrick is desperately in search of campaign material. I am quite sure that he could do his cause more good by explaining the multitude of his official acts which have been the cause of so much censure, rather than harping on one lonely letter which I wrote as a private citizen.

Again he fails to include the petition of the five Democratic candidates for the Kent Post Office who were in harmony with this letter from myself. Again he dodges the charges of disloyalty to the party, unfaithfulness to his campaign pledges and arrogance and discourtesy to the party workers. These are the things concerning which the Democrats of the new fourteenth district desire information and explanation from him. Let him explain if he can why the bitterness against him is so general among Democrats in towns like Hudson, Cuyahoga Falls, Akron, Kenmore, Barberton, Ravenna, Atwater, Wayland, Warren, Niles and many other places throughout the whole nineteenth district. Let him explain if he can his disloyalty to the Democratic party in his condemnation of Gov. Cox. Let him explain if he can his unfaithfulness to his campaign pledges in his opposition to the Wilson-Underwood Tariff Bill.

Let him explain why he absolutely broke his promise to the editor of the Barberton News. Let him explain why he absolutely broke his promises to the Democrats at Ravenna and is even now playing an underhanded game to break the Portage County Organization. Let him explain why he tried to put a Republican over as Post Master at Warren and why he did finally appoint the man selected by this Republican. Let him explain his arrogance and discourtesy to the Democratic Organization of Trumbull County, also.

When he has finished explaining all these things which are his official acts then it may be he would be justified in digging up one lonely letter which I wrote as a private citizen. Mr. Bathrick is on the defensive. He has many, many things smacking of irregularity and disloyalty which he must explain and in the absence of a satisfactory explanation he must stand convicted before the Democratic voters.

Mr. Bathrick stated that the Democrat whom he appointed as Post Master at Kent, "is now giving good service to Kent." He should have said that the Kent Post Master is now giving good service to Mr. Bathrick. I charge that there is a Post Master's ring actively and desperately at work to save Mr. Bathrick's political fortunes, notwithstanding the fact that they are drawing pay from the United States Government and under instructions to keep out of all Politics.

He states that I have capitalized all the strife that he has stirred up. He admits that there is a great deal of strife. In one breath he states that I have capitalized all this strife and in another he claims that the disappointed ones are still his friends. He is as inconsistent in this matter as he has been throughout his official career. I am sorry that it seemed necessary for another man to seek the congressional nomination, but I am glad to say that it was not necessary for me to capitalize this strife at all. Several hundred men who are bitterly opposed to Mr. Bathrick because of his treatment of them enlisted under my standard without effort on my part.

My opponent claims that the statements which I have made concerning his failure to properly support President Wilson's program and the Baltimore platform are not true. He surely must realize that it takes more than a mere denial to prove a point. Let him explain if he can why it was necessary for the Administration to threaten to take his patronage away from him if he did not line up. Let him explain if he can his strenuous effort to defeat the Tariff Program and his special fight on free wool and free sugar contrary to his campaign pledges and the Baltimore platform. If he voted for it because he was cabled into it he cannot take any credit unto himself for this.

Sincerely yours,

M. Davey.

From Congressman E. R. BATHRICK

My opponents have encouraged misstatements and misunderstandings, but I am convinced that everybody will understand that there are two sides to every question. To all who ask, I will send page and date of the Congressional Record showing my votes on the important measures. These will refute some misstatements.

I cannot leave Washington now and properly perform the duties of my office, and I may not be able to tour the district before the August 11th Primaries. All I can do now is to write to you? If you are in doubt WRITE TO ME. That would be the fair thing for the voters to do. It would hardly seem fair to take the word of my opponents on all matters.

I am now serving my second term in Congress. Experience may be useful. Surely, the lack of it is no recommendation. Aside from Legislation, there are duties to be performed of great and small importance to Commerce, Labor, Agriculture, Veteran soldiers and society generally, in the district. I know how, now, better than I did, and better than one who has had no experience.

Congress is not a vacation. It is the greatest deliberative body on earth, where the very destiny of our nation and its free institutions centre. There will be a struggle this fall to destroy our Democratic majority in Congress and to overthrow our good work. May I suggest that I can defend Democratic principles and legislation in the district better than some whose ambitions are more mature than their experience?

I was elected in 1910 in the historic 19th district, against a large united normal Republican majority; re-elected in that district in 1912 by a plurality of nearly 4,400. In this latter campaign my vote was 2,209 more than that received by President Wilson and 2,610 more than was received by Governor Cox. I mention this only as a matter of some personal pride and evidence of confidence imposed in me.

For the information of those who reside in new counties of this district, and whom, owing to my being obliged to remain in Washington, I have never met, I will state that I am 51 years of age and for 30 years have fought for Democratic principles and for men who I thought would carry them out. I was born on the farm and my life has been spent in various occupations of Commerce, with average success. This is my first office I have ever held.

I give below a brief synopsis of work completed or under way during my time in Congress and in which I have had a part.

Low tariff. There was a general demand for this and none can deny that it was the one big thing that placed the Democrats in power. There are 4,100 items in the tariff law and to expect human beings to adjust them all perfectly is too much to expect. Experience thus far indicates that our tariff law is in most respects a fair medium between high tariff as one extreme and free trade as the other extreme. I have also done my part in securing a better banking and currency law intended to prevent the centralization of money and credit in the hands of what has been known as the money trust.

The income tax which better distributes the burdens of government; a law declaring that the laborer and the farmer are not "trusts" and are not to be classed as such with the Standard Oil Company or the Tobacco Trust, etc., yet, without giving illegal privileges to any; the direct election of United States Senators by the people; the Sherwood pension law for old soldiers and a law for the widows and minor children of Spanish War Veterans; revision of the rules of the House of Representatives to destroy one-man power; the parcels post law, of great advantage to city and country; a workman's compensation law; restoration of the right of petition to government employees and an eight-hour day on government work; a law to prohibit stock exchange gambling in food stuffs; a department of labor and a labor member of the President's Cabinet; the extension and revitalizing of the Department of Commerce with more liberal appropriations to enable it to aid better in the advancement of our Commerce.

As to those results which accrue from my own initiative I feel more modest, but I think I need not apologize.

The work of one member in a body of 433, is seldom distinguished in short service, and without enumeration of other matters, I shall leave you to judge whether I am worthy of continuance in this office or not.

Sincerely Yours

E. R. Bathrick

Season Ticket Sale for Redpath Chautauqua

In arranging for a Redpath Chautauqua here this summer the local committee secured a thousand $2.50 season tickets which will be sold for $2.00 each.

When these tickets are gone no season tickets can be had for less than $2.50. Also the price of season tickets will not be reduced from the first day to the close of the Chautauqua.

The single admissions to the various sessions of this Chautauqua will aggregate more than $7.50, so it will pay you to buy a season ticket even after the program is half completed. Season tickets are not transferable, except within the owner's family.

Children's tickets, costing $1.00 each, admit children aged from 6 to 14 years, inclusive. Admission to the special children's work is free.

For admission fees to the respective entertainments see the souvenir program, copies of which are now available.
